Agenda

- Raising money at the Christmas Fair

Raising money at the Christmas Fair

How could we raise money to spend on our school? Here are our ideas for running a competition:

Lucky (carrot) dip	Fill a deep tray with sand. Get around 30 carrots (snowman noses), paint five of them gold on the end and those who pick out a golden carrot, win a prize.	Popular
Choco cards	Lay one pack of cards out on a table, placing a wrapped chocolate on some of the cards, with booby prizes or nothing on the others. The children choose a card from another pack, and win whatever is on the corresponding card.
Where in the world is santa?	Display photos of landmarks from across the globe, zoomed in close, and run a quiz challenging people to identify the locations. Give prizes to those who get five or more correct answers.
Sock game	Hang a variety of socks on a line or clothes horse and put small items into each sock (such as a marble, comb, penny etc) and the children or adults have to guess what is in each sock and write down what their guesses are (have a pre-printed sheet with name, phone number and description of each sock). The winner is the person who guesses all the items. Pull names out of a hat if there is more than one person who guesses all correctly.	Popular
Hook a cracker	Get lots of crackers when on offer. Hole punch the crackers and attach a paper clip, formed into a loop. Put the crackers into boxes, standing up, and use 'hook a duck' sticks and charge 50p a go. The participants win every time - a cracker!
Reindeer skittles	Line up 5 rubber ducks with pictures of Rudolph stuck to them. Children to throw 3 balls. If they knock down all of the reindeer they win a lucky dip prize.	CHOSEN ✓
A coin for rudolf	Put a laminated (in case it gets wet) colour picture of Rudolf under a fish tank full of water. Rudolf's nose must be red and just big enough for the largest size of coin to lie on it with a little room to spare. Players drop the coin in and if it lands entirely on Rudolf's red nose then the player doubles their money. No prizes are needed, as winners simply win money back. Provide the stall minder with a towel for when they have to fish the money out. This is a surprisingly difficult game that has adults and kids coming back to play again and again!

Helping out at the Christmas Fair

Letters given to all children for times they can help on the School Council Stall at the Christmas Fair.

Agendas for the next meetings

- Finalise the running of the stall at the fair
